Midterm Tutorial Project (10% of total grade)

FORMAT: A student-negotiated independent project.

REQUIREMENTS: You will select one of the topics covered in the first half of the semester (listed below), and create a tutorial to teach someone that wants to learn about it.   You choose the format ("modality") of the tutorial: web page, video, text with images, helper application, game, et cetera. While the content should have references to your original sources, it should be in your own words (no quotes) and answer the question: "How would I teach this to somebody else?"   Finally, you will create a Padlet post to share your work, and provide feedback to at least two other colleagues on their posts.

TOPICS (pick one)

- variables
- operators (logical operators and other special operators)
- if/else* and switch control structures
- Loops
- Arrays
- Functions
- Objects
- The Document Object Model (warning: do NOT show me a tree)

Marking Rubric (10 Marks)

Criteria	Proficient	Competent	Novice
Topic Clarity	4	3-2	1
	The content covers: what the subject is, what it is for, how to use it, and when not to use it.	The content is missing one or two of these aspects.	The content covers: what the subject is and what it is for.
Completeness	1	0.5	0
	The content covers the main points and considerations of the topic.	The content left out some considerations of the topic that are not primary to the understanding.	Important considerations of the topic have been left out.
Modality	1	0.5	0
	The benefits of the selected modality have been well used.	The benefits of the selected modality have been used inconsistently.	The benefits of the modality were not used to enhance the delivery of the content.
Spelling/Grammar	1	0.5	0
	No spelling or grammar errors.	Less than three spelling or grammar errors.	More than three spelling or grammar errors.
Cite Sources	1	0.5	0
	A list of references (as hyperlinks) was provided.	A list of references was provided, but without hyperlinks, or descriptive text.	No references were provided.
Sharing Your Work	1	0	0
	A Padlet post was created to share or summarize your work.	No post was provided, or an incomplete post.	No post was provided, or an incomplete post.
Peer Feedback	1	0.5	0
	Meaningful feedback was provided on Padlet to at least two posts by fellow students.	Meaningful feedback was provided to one fellow students.	No meaningful comments were provided.